September 1999

Volume 7 Number 1

Annual Meeting

Please come to the Library on Sunday afternoon, September 26, 1999, at 3:00 pm for the Annual Report of the Foundation. You will be able to learn more details of the year just completed and look forward to the 1999-2000 year. You will be able to meet some of our benefactors from the past year and express your appreciation to the many volunteers who have contributed hours of work to the Library since June, 1998. No reservations are required. Just spend an hour on a Fall afternoon learning more about your organization.

Library Advisory Committee

A new group of Fiske volunteers will begin work this fall, reviewing Library acquisitions and advising the Foundation Board on how to set priorities for expansion of the collection, maintaining our currency in the key areas of the collection (like New England, New York and the Oregon Country) and how to make optimal use of limited space as the collection grows in size. (We already are almost to 8000 volumes in the Library.) The group also will offer recommendations when problems arise in cataloging new titles, seeking the most useful placement in the collection for retrieval by the patrons.

The committee consists of Mary Peters, director of the Library catalog; Mary Stoebeck, a long time user of the collection; Jan Olson, a volunteer on the Wednesday evening shift and a professional librarian at the Federal Office Building in Seattle; and Gary Zimmerman.

The Board recently affirmed that the Fiske Library will concentrate its efforts on genealogically relevant materials for the areas of North America from the Atlantic coast to the tier of states on the western banks of the Mississippi River, the states in the original Oregon Country, and those overseas lands that supplied the stream of immigrant settlers into each of these North American areas of concern.

While we may choose to accept offered donations concerning other states in the Union, we will be concentrating our purchases and our attention on building up the collection in the above mentioned target areas. We will strive to become the pre-eminent library for New England and Middle Atlantic States research in this part of the world. The continued support and help of all the Fiske Family will be needed to reach this goal.

New Library Hours Are Coming

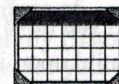

In an effort to provide more hours of research time to our patrons and to enhance the focus on the Wednesday morning educational seminars, the schedule of Library openings will be changed effective October 1, 1999. You will find that there are several more hours per week to come and use the collection.

Monday 10:00 am to 3:00 pm
Wednesday 12 Noon to 8 pm
Thursday 3:00 pm to 8 pm
Friday open by appt for groups from out of city
Saturday 9:00 am to 3:00 pm
Sunday Second Sunday of month, 1-4 pm

The key changes are to keep the library closed on Wednesday mornings during the weekly seminar and then to open at noon for all research and continue clear through to 8 pm. There will be no need to leave the library for a couple of hours on Wednesday afternoon and then return for the evening. You can work straight through! On Thursday, the Library will be open from 3 pm to 8 pm in an effort to get another day of research for you. On Saturday, the starting time is being moved 1 hour earlier to give you a more effective week-end time to work, and on the days that the Pioneer Association opens their museum to the public (on the second Sunday of the month) the Fiske Collection will be open to you.

President's Message

I recently spent two days at a Collections Management Workshop offered by the Shoreline Historical Museum in north Seattle with support from the King County Landmarks and Heritage Commission. Many of the thirty participants were interested in archival records management. We learned how to keep better records of our collections, how to better preserve the books and files that come to us, how to legally dispose of duplicate and unneeded gifts when they are no longer used in the collection and how to prepare for unanticipated disasters that might damage all or part of the collection.

The Fiske Library resources have been growing at an accelerating rate and we must develop some new approaches to manage the collection in a way that our users can more easily access what is available to them. If you haven't been using our microform collection of fiche and rolls of microfilm, if you haven't been into the CD Rom collection, if you haven't found the depth of our "named" collections, you are missing something in your experience of the Library. In part, that is because we haven't made useful finding aids available to you. There is much work to be done in this regard.

A few weeks ago, we received an extensive collection of research notes and archival material from the family of Brian Llewellyn Young. They represented his 54 years of family research. When Brian Young died in March, 1997, at the age of 80, he left a significant corpus of material that has now come to the library. Mary Stevenson has just completed a summary index to the files, which cover families in New England, Pennsylvania, Virginia and a few in Oregon. Surnames of prominence include Baldwin, Byrd, Huntley, Hutchinson, Martz, Robertson, Robinson, Shay, Stickley, Stockbarger, Stover, and Young.

As we become better organized in the Library, you may want to consider leaving your own notes and research materials to the Library. Future researchers will benefit from the hours you have devoted to your collection and then will be able to build upon it. Leave copies of your summary results for your family, but seriously consider leaving the details in your workbooks to a research library for others to extend that research in the future. All of us will benefit from that consideration.

I would be happy to meet with you to discuss the details of such a gift and how it might be accomplished in a smooth fashion.

Gary Zimmerman

President

New On The Bookshelf

Use this checklist to find new material of direct interest to your own research and come into the Library to look at these materials. Most of them are already on the shelves in their appropriate section. There have been so many new acquisitions, that the new book holding area in the classroom space, was too small to hold them. So everything has been merged into the collection. Ask a volunteer for help if you can't find the book of interest.

Interested in Preserving Records?

Jackie Cedarholm and some of her friends have been copying inscriptions in a cemetery near Snohomish. This has renewed interest among several Fiske Library members in finding other opportunities for preserving some of our local history. There are other cemeteries which could (and should) be copied, and there are many early church records which also may be of value if made available for easier access to genealogical researchers.

If you would be interested in participating in one of these projects, please leave a note at the Library for Gary Zimmerman. This could be the beginning of a great adventure for you and you could personally make a useful contribution to the local "world of records".

Speakers Wanted?! Apply Here!

The Library is receiving an increasing number of requests to provide speakers for the programs at monthly meetings of various genealogical organizations in Western Washington. If you have done extensive research in a particular kind of record or if you have a "specialty" in any field of research that you could share with others, consider joining the Fiske Library Speakers' Bureau. It is helpful to the continuing strength of the Fiske organization to have the visibility offered by a "Fiske" representative offering these speaking programs.

In the past year, we have provided programs to the Eastside Genealogical Society, the Whatcom County Genealogical Society, the North Seattle Kiwanis Club, the South King County Genealogical Society, the Skagit County Genealogical Society, and the South Whidbey Genealogical Society. In the coming weeks, we will have speakers at a PEO Chapter in Bellevue, at Whatcom County, and a computer interest genealogy group in the Seattle area.

Please call Gary Zimmerman at the library if you would like to be included in this service, either as a presenter or to schedule a program for your local organization.

Fiske Papers Received by Library

We thank Lorraine Dressel, a niece of Arthur Fiske, who recently gave several boxes of his personal papers to the library. These were located in his apartment at the time of his passing, and had been in her possession since that time. The Library staff have begun the task of sorting and cataloging this material so that it can be used by researchers at the Library.

If you would like to help on this project, please attend the work party being held at the library on Wednesday, December 15, at 10 a.m.

New England Institute Ends

After a successful run of several years duration, the New England Institute classes on the first Saturday of the month will not recommence this Fall. The Wednesday morning seminar series will begin to schedule more New England topics, beginning with a special session on resources in Connecticut that is slated for October 27th. Additional offerings are planned for the Winter and Spring Quarters. Our appreciation goes to Peggy Kleyn for her faithful leadership of this group in the past.

If more than six or eight people show an interest in supporting focused discussions on New England research topics, the Board will consider re-instating the New England series. Let a member of the Board know of your interest.

Is There a "FITCH" in Your Line?

John T. Fitch, a resident of Cambridge, Massachusetts, has just completed his fifth book about the Fitch family. This was an English family, several members of which came to New England in the 1600's. Two of his books cover the English background of the family, and the other three are about Rev. James Fitch and over 8000 named descendants. If you connect with this family, Mary Stevenson has all the books, and would be glad to help you check out your ancestry. Her phone number is 425-454-5217.

How to Start Your Family Search

A series of classes in Beginning Genealogy will be offered at the Library on four consecutive Wednesday evenings in October, 1999. The two hour sessions will begin at 6:30 pm on October 8th, 15th, 22nd and 29th. Mary Peters will be coordinating these presentations, which will include some Video Knowledge video tapes and class discussion of the best ways to get started. These classes are free, but students will be asked to purchase the handouts offered during the month.

If you know of someone who might benefit from this "orientation" series at a beginner's level, please bring this opportunity to their attention. The class will proceed only if there are a minimum of five students enrolled. Call the Library at 206-328-2716 and register your interest in these Beginning Classes by leaving your name and telephone number and how many people you will be bringing to the classes.

Bookmark the Library

Browse the internet and visit the web site of the Fiske Library. You will find us at <http://www.fiske.lib.wa.us> and you will find current details of the educational programs at the Library, the complete listing of duplicate and surplus books available, news about northwest meetings of genealogical interest, and details of upcoming trips offered to Fiske members. A special thanks goes to volunteer Marjorie Jodoin, our persistent webmaster, who volunteers her time to keep our web pages up to date and accurate.

If you are using the Internet to access genealogical resources, you are keeping current with contemporary practice. You probably have discovered already that Cyndi's List (<http://www.cyndislist.com>) or Rootsweb (<http://www.rootsweb.com>) are great places to start your search. Be sure to look at the web site at the Family History Library in Salt Lake City (<http://www.familysearch.com>), not only for the fast search engines being applied to the IGI and to the Ancestral Files, but also for easy access to the LDS Research Outlines and to the entire catalog of the FHL. You can get right down to the individual roll numbers of microfilm so that you can go to your local Family History Center and quickly order the records you need for your research.

Your Expertise May Be Needed by Someone Else

If you have done a lot of genealogy in a particular region or have cultivated a talent for using a particular kind of record, the Fiske Library can use your skill. You may not want to do public speaking and will avoid the speakers' bureau described elsewhere in this newsletter, but perhaps the more private one-on-one relationship of a mentor to a needy student appeals to you. It has been suggested that we create a roster of volunteer "experts" who could be called upon by the volunteer staff at the Library when a patron has a particular need for assistance. For example, one person recently volunteered to serve on such a list for questions dealing with Quebec and the records of New France. If a person comes into the library and has a problem finding their French Canadian lineage, we have an offer of expert help from our "consultant list."

If you would like to be included on the first draft of this consultant list, please send a note to Gary at the Library indicating your particular areas of emphasis. Be sure to note that it is the consultant service that you are interested. Gary could also use some people with additional translation skills; he can cover the French, German and Spanish records, but periodically we have to go searching for help on Scandinavian, Russian and Asian languages. Any translators out there?
